FFA Names Chapter Farmer

Annual Awards Dinner Held

Phillip Lucado, son of Mr. and Mrs. Basil A. Lucado, Route 3, Appomattox, received the coveted Star Chapter Farmer Award during the FFA Honors Program held Thursday night, May 4, at the Appomattox County High School. The Star Chapter Farmer Award is presented to the FFA member who has developed an outstanding supervised farming program and has shown high qualities of citizenship and leadership.

The Annual Honors Award gram was presided over by Phillip Lucado, president of the chapter. The program started with a chicken barbecue cooked by FFA members and assisted by staff members and a high school cafeteria. Fathers and other special guests were invited to the program, which was designed to acquaint them with the activities and progress of the chapter members who are studying vocational agriculture.

The invocation was given by Brent Washburn, and who also recognized the fathers and guests present. A medley of songs was presented as entertainment by the very popular youth group known as The Three Plus One. This group is composed of Hope Paulette, Brenda Ferguson, Donna Paulette, and Dennis Chenault.

Following the opening ceremony conducted by chapter officers, Phillip Goode, a member of the FFA chapter, gave the address of welcome. Paul Cruan, State FFA President, brought greetings from the State FFA Association, and presented chapter members a very challenging talk on the purposes of FFA.

Robert E. McClenny, Jr.,soil conservationist for Appomattox County was presented with honorary membership in the chapter in a special ceremony conducted by chapter officers. Honorary membership is reserved for adults who have rendered outstanding service to the chapter and who are elected by chapter members. Mr. McClenny has been of great help to the chapter members in the area of soil and water conservation, and very recently did much to interest the chapter in helping to solve some of our environment problems.

Dennis Torrence, instructor of agricultural education at Appomattox High School, presented achievement awards to the outstanding members of the chapter. As each student was recognized, a set of slides was shown depicting the individual's accomplishments. Those who were recognized are: dairy farming, Ricky Lewis and Eddie Stratton; sales and services, Doug Webb; on-farm placement, James Torrence; public speaking, James Torrence; soil and water management, Edward Davidson; home improvement, Calvin Mitchell; electrification, Ronnie Campbell; forestry, Charlie Gunter; farm mechanics, Steve Tanner; horticulture, Barry Jones; livestock farming, Jimmy Braford; leadership, Phillip Lucado, and Star Green Hand, Sandy Hamlett.

Miss Gallier, Larry Ferguson, and George Franklin presented a slide presentation entitled "FFA' Yout h With A Purpose," This pesentation revealed the great progress that has been made in the FFA and showed how the FFA as an organization is providing many opportunities for our rural youth.

Fourteen seniors in the FFA were recognized for their accomplishments and a tribute was given by the chapter to these members for their services to the chapter over the past five years.

Advisors to the Appomattox County FFA Chapter this year are H. B. Pack, R. B. Carter, W. C. Perrow, and D. W. Torrence.

It was awards night Thursday for the Appomattox Chapter, Future Farmers of America. (from left): Sandy Hamlett, Star Green Hand; Paul Cruan, state FFA president who gave a short address; R. E. McClenny, Jr.,
